The Process of Persuasion Persuasion is really a pretty simple process with four basic parts. First, it begins with a person (the source or persuader) who wants something that he or she doesn ' t have already. Persuasion is goal-directed; so all persuaders have goals that they seek, which is the second part in the process of persuasion.

The Nature of Attitudes and Persuasion

something persuasive. First, persuasion involves a goal and the intent to achieve that goal on the part of the message sender. Second, communica-tion is the means to achieve that goal. Third, the message recipient must have free will (i.e., threatening physical harm if the recipient doesn ' t comply is usually considered force, not persuasion).
