The Invisible Gorilla is a fascinating look at the unbelievable, yet routine tricks that your brain plays on you. In an award-winning and groundbreaking study, psychologists Christopher Chabris and Daniel Simons asked volunteers to watch a 60-second film of a group of students playing basketball and told them to count the number of passes made.

The invisible gorilla experiment has become a psychology classic. Although it was conducted for the first time in 1999, it's still cited as a typical example of the limitations of perception. It also illustrates how people don't like to accept the fact that they're often blind to the world around them.
